1. Do we live in the age of entitlement? Why or why not?
2. What rights do we often fight for that we should be willing to sacrifice at appropriate times to help other people?
3. Why do you think unity and working together such an important theme for Paul with the church?
4. What are some practical ways we can show love to others in the church?
5. Why is it important to have healthy boundaries around sacrificing rights for others? What types of situations would make sacrificing our rights inappropriate?
6. What was your biggest takeaway from this week's message and how do you plan to respond to it?
